AN UNLUCKY WEEK

The Senators Lost Their Pace During the Past Few Days.

WESTERN TRIP NOT MUCH FEARED

Speculations as to the Proposed

New League.

THE LATEST AVERAGES

Disappointment came the way of the Washington base ball fans the latter part of the last and the beginning of this week over the local club's showing against the Baltimore team and the first game with Boston, but Wednesday's game set them at ease, illustrating, as it did, the fact that all clubs have their off periods, and that the Senators cannot be defeated for a long stretch. It is hard to account for the state of things, but it is nevertheless true that the Washington enthusiasts would sooner see the local club win from Baltimore than any club in the league. If three straight games were won from the Orioles and then three defeats follow to the Louisville, the latter "throw down" would be ascribed to poor luck and the former victories looked upon as red letter days in the history of the national game. One point that the local followers of the game can derive great satisfaction from is that no matter how good a game the Senators may put up if there is a weak spot on the nine it will be strengthened at the first opportun-

Second division will never more be the stationary resting place of the club representing Washington. Of this Mr. Wagner and Captain Joyce are positive. The club and Captain Joyce are positive. The club can be strengthened, especially in the pitcher's box, and a strong addition to that position will doubtless be secured on the coming western trip. No matter if Rusie is denied us, in the language of the street, "there are others." A pitcher with unsatisfactory surroundings cannot be expected to do good work and such as the control of the street of the to do goed work, and such a man is expected to goed work, and such a man is expected to get into the congenial company of the local club. Another deal is also on the carpet, and if it is put through an enthusiastic whoop will go up from the local Capt. Joyce has illustrated the fact that he has got all out of the present team that there is to come and that if additional bril-liant talent can be secured the same state liant talent can be secured the same state of affairs will continue to exist. One thing the local patrons should bear in mind, and that is that the Senators are playing a good game of ball. To lose three or four games at a stretch is no indication of a let-down on their part, but that their opponents played better ball. An entertainment worthy of the price of admission can always be found at National Park and always be found at National Park, and the dropping of games is no indication that the audience did not get the worth of their the audience did not get the worth of their money. Of course hard losers are always to be encouraged, but don't lose sight of the fact that the Senators are in the first division, and that the position is so strange to a Washington club that they are doing exceedingly well even if they manage to hang on by their eyebrows.

Next Wednesday the Senators play the Next Wednesday the Senators play the first game on their second western trip. But who's afraid? The boys have demonstrated that foreign fields have no terrors for them, and that they will give a good account of themselves is a foregone conclusion. Of course they will have stiff problems to solve at Cleveland, Cincinnati and Pittsburg, but Chicago, St. Louis and Louisville should not prove brain troublers in the least. No matter how much the St. Louis team is strengthened, it will never play better ball under the present manageplay better ball under the present management. The gambling influence is there, and if there is a more nerve-destri than gambling on horses it has failed as yet to materialize. In Louisville it is a case of too many young players, along with too many old players of a "has been" character. But there is a possibility of the Colonels being strengthened, and it will come after the Washington games.

The Senators will probably drop the first The Senators will probably drop the first game on the trip to Pittsburg, as they are apt to beat that club two games next Monday and Tuesday before they go away. Thursday they open at Cincinnati, and here comes the first stiff members. If the Wests

Thursday they open at Cincinnati, and here comes the first stiff problem. If the Washington boys get one there will be no kick coming. Then on to St. Louis, and we want three straight, Joe Sullivan and "Tuck" Turner to the contrary notwithstanding. Chicago follows, and we may get one, possibly two; but don't underestimate the Colts, give them the benefit of a doubt. Tebeau's Tigers come next, and we may get one, but don't kick on three losses, as the Tigers are straightening out for the run home and will play desperate ball from now on. Then one game at St. Louis follows, and probably a Senatorial victory. Buck to Louisville the Senators come, and of course we want three, and, as Capt. Jeyce would say, "we must have 'em." Then they set sail for the east and open with the easy things at Brooklyn. After three games with the "Grooms" they come home, and they run up against the Orioles. We'll do them this time to a dead certainty. We can't take three straight from them, as the series is split up, the middle game being played in Baltimore, but we'll take the two and rest content.

game being played in Baltimore, but we'll take the two and rest content.

There is only one club in the second division that can dislodge the Senators, and that is Chicago. The other eastern clubs under them will have the same hard problems to solve as the Senators, and that under them will have the same hard prob-lems to solve as the Senators, and that they can do any better with the western teams is not to be thought of. Therefore, may the Chicagos get it good and hard where "Nellie wears her beads," and the sincere wish of all is that the Senators may return home in the first division. Don't forget that stretch of "At Homes" at the wind-up of the season.

Another batch of base ball averages is just out, dealing with the hitting ability of forty-five of the leaders in the league, and they are quite interesting. The Washington club this time loses three of its players from the .300 or better class, and now only three remain. Last week we had six, but McGuire, Mercer and Cartwright failed to keep up their good work, and now they are with the "also ran" class. Selbach still leads the club in fitting, and is tied with Grady of Philadelphia, with .351. Joyce has taken a great brace, and has climbed up to .335. It took some time for the Senators' captain to get into the .300 class, but now he appears to be securely anchored. The third man is little DeMontreville, who is tied with the slugger Lyons of Pittsburg, with an average of .315. Burkett still leads the secure of the security and anchored. The third man is little DeMontreville, who is tied with the slugger Lyons of Pittsburg, with an average of .315. Burkett still leads the league, and the Cleveland club, with .440 opposite his name. Jennings of Baltimore has crawled up, and is now in second place, with .406. Dahlen of Chicago comes third, with .303. Mc-Creary of Louisville is fourth, with .383. "Dusty" Miller of Cincinnati, who made such a game fight to lead the league in batting at the commencement of the season, has dropped back to fifth, but still has the big average of .378. Tiernan of New York leads that club, with .374. Delehanty is now in ninth place, but leads the Philadelphia sluggers, who have recently failed to slug, with an average of .371. "Dusty" Burrell, the new catcher for Brooklyn, leads the Bridegrooms, with .376, Jones, the other great hitter of the club, having fallen off in his stick work. Center Fielder Stenzel leads the Pittsburg procession, with .358. Hamilton, in eighteenth place, is the first man to show for Boston. sion, with .358. Hamilton, in eighteenth place, is the first man to show for Boston, place, is the first man to show for Boston, with .345. St. Louis has at last got two men in the .300 class, Cooley, with .322, and Parrott, with .300. Averages don't amount to much, but they make interesting reading and demonstrate that sacrifice hitting is everything in base ball. Washington foots the list in fladding but is fifth in batting the list in fielding, but is fifth in batting, and leads clubs that can show the Senators the way in both these departments.

Again the new base tall league idea has come to the front. This is only to be exseason the big league is now going through and the discontent that has cropped out in several cities over the poor playing of the clubs representing them. When a business can be developed requiring, say, $150,000 as a capital, on which from $25,000 to $40,000 and even as high as $125,000 can be cleared in one year, there will always the same there.

Cleveland, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and possibly Chicago. Louisville is off the earth. In New York Magnate Freedman has antagonised a big class of base ball enthusiasts, who also have money or influential friends, and to make the possibilities stronger against him the club is playing very ordinary ball. The Rusic case cuts a small figure. If the club was up among the leaders, the big Hoosier would soon be forgotten. Over in Brooklyn the management stands well, but the club doesn't and consequently a winner is looked for. In Poston the management, by its short-sighted, stingy policy, has turned the public from it and a new club would rake in the shekels. The same state of affairs exists in Philadelphia with the addition of poorer ball playing. St. Louis has suffered from Von Der Aheism for the past decade and the big German would have plenty of time to attend to his race track and chutes if another St. Louis club takes the field. This would give the new enterprise Bosif another St. Louis club takes the field.

This would give the new enterprise Boston, New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the east and St. Louis, Milwaukee, Detrcit, Indianapolis and possibly Chicago in the west. This circuit is not a bad one, and then if a break should come from the league magnates the new organization might make things decidedly warm for the league with the big name. There is considerable base ball managerial talent and capital floating decided warms. erable hase ball managerial talent and capital floating around loose and the advantage of former mistakes would come into play. Whether the game would be benefited or not is a question, but if the new organization would lead to the squelching of Freedman and an advance in salaries for of Freedman and an advance in salaries fo the players two worthy objects would be accomplished at least.

Several eastern papers were dubious about Buck Ewing's base running record and in-timated that the scorer at Cincinnati was but the way the old boy sailed around the bases on the last eastern trip caused everybody to open their eyes. "Buck" always was and is one of the best base runners in the bases. in the league.

Billy Hart of the St. Louis club recently said: "I was caned in Washington and afterward slugged. The printers in Washington came to the conclusion that if Joyce ington came to the conclusion that if Joyce could get a watch the printers could raise a cane for me. So they clubbed together and bought me a cane. A few minutes after it was given me the Senators turned in and slugged me out of the box. I got it both ways. It was the only thing I ever had given me in twelve years of professional play, and it proved a jonah."

Fred Pfeffer's playing at second for Chicago has set the cranks going. Everything Fred Pfeffer's playing at second for Chicago has set the cranks going. Everything that comes his way is gobbled to a certainty and his batting will carry him into the 300 class within the next two weeks. The Cleveland boys will play better ball from now on, if their kicking is barred by all the umpires. They are all first-class players, and if they can devote all their attention to playing the game it will take a very fast team to head them off from the pennant.

Pittsburg continues to play the same inand-out game as of yore. The wonder is that they didn't lose a game at St. Louis. But then the poor old mound city lads were so completely tied up with changes and re-leases that they couldn't beat a carpet, let alone the Pittsburgs.

That man Bergen, behind the bat for Boston, needs no apologies from any one. If there ever was a comer he is one. He is new to the league players, but by next year he will be up with the leaders in the catcher's position. His throwing to second is a revelation.

The contemplated change of Rusie for Delehanty and Taylor of the Phillies would be a good thing for both clubs and New York would have a shade the better of the bargain. Delehanty would help out fully in batting and Taylor is quite a pitcher at times.

Everybody is yelling for the Joyce button, and it will be ready by the time the team returns from the west. If the club holds its own and returns in the first division the buttons will command a great sale. In the meantime the Mercer button is the favorite with the ladies and is conspicuous among the crowd that turns out on Ladies posed the Senators. Despite the great disparity in the score, the faithful were kept guessing for seven innings yesterday afternoon, says the Philadelphia Inquirer in describing yesterday's game in that city. Up to this stage the pitchers had been equally effective, and each had been accorded excellent support. It was, in fact, anybody's game up to the Phillies' half of the eighth, when they developed a batting streak, rapping out four singles, a pair of doubles, and a home run -a combination which, aided by a muff by Lush and a wild throw by De Montreville, netted them eight runs and the game. The chief interest of the spectators was centered in the performance of Mertes and Keener, and after the game it was the general opinion that both would do.

The Senators played a dashing, hustling game, but except in the fifth inning, when they made three singles and a double, they were unable to do anything with Keener's delivery. It wasn't until the fourth that a run was made, and that was only secured after a great deal of effort. Delehanty was struck by a pitched ball, stole second and went up to third on Thompson's out, coming home on Brouthers' fly to Brown.

The visiting statesmen went to the front with a rush in the first helf of the fifth

NEW SECOND BASEMAN.

O'Brien Secured From Louisville-Crooks and Rogers to Go.

Mr. J. Earl Wagner closed a deal last evening with President Stucky of the Louisville club by which Jack Crooks, Jimmy Rogers and $1,000 in cash are exchanged for Second Baseman O'Brien. Negotiaand even as high as $125,000 can be cleared in one year, there will always be found backers who are willing to take the risk that goes with base ball. There is no doubt that in certain cities like New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis, rival clubs, provided they would play good ball, could be made a financial success, but woe betide the club that would try to land in Baltimore, Washington, dictated by Louisville. O'Brien is one of the Louisville team's best batters, having an average for the season of .350. He has been at bat 177 times, and made 62 hits. Crooks and Rogers will report at Louisville Monday. Crooks will play second base and Rogers will either play first or be kept as a utility infielder.

O'Brien will accompany the Senators on the western trip: He sprang into prominence as second baseman of the Brooklyn team in 1891, under Johnnie Ward. He was released by Ward, and was signed by the Oakland, Cal., team of the California League League. O'Brien played in Oakland during the season of 1892 and came east the following winter. In 1893 he covered second for the Augusta, Ga., nine, which won the Souththe season of 1835 he was signed by Anson, but he failed to see the qualities of O'Brien, and released him. O'Brien was signed last season by the Louisville club. He is of medium height, rugged and stal-wart, and looks the ball player from the ground. He is a hard hitter, fast on the bases, and a steady fielder, covering a large area of ground.

Clevelands Won Easily.

After the enthusiastic welcome accorded them on their return home, the Cleveland players went at the Browns with great vigor yesterday afternoon. St Louis played like school boys, and the Spiders easily won

MILITARY ATHLETES. Everything Rendy for the Light Infantry Field Day. Everything has been completed for the annual field day of Company C, Washington Light Infantry, at International Athletic Park, which comes off next Saturday. This company has recently been thoroughly reorganized and placed upon a new line of work and action. The athletic entertainment is somewhat of a variation from the tactical training and disciplined duties of a soldier, but the inculcation of an interest for physical development and social enjoyment among the members is recognized as almost as great a necessity as the more strict military requirements.

The program of the events made its apearance yesterday, and is a very attracpearance yesterday, and is a very attractive eight-page sheet. The committee on arrangements for the entire affair consists of Sergt. W. S. McKean, jr., chairman; Sergt. C. O. Doten and Privates D. W. Gregory, F. I. Greene, J. R. Tune and Grant Green, and the success of the meet will be due entirely to the hard-working efforts of this committee. At the regular called meeting, held Wednesday evening, the private boxes in front of the grand the private boxes in front of the grand stand at the park were raffled off to the members of the Infantry Corps, and a good sum realized from this source alone.

PICKED MEN TO RACE

Arrangements Complete for the Contests With Baltimore.

THE BIG EVENT IN CYCLING CIRCLES

Proposed Organization of Colored Wheelmen.

GOSSIP OF THE CLUBS

All arrangements for the intercity races have been completed, and all that remains to be done is the running off of the races. The prize trophy has not as yet been se lected, but a scheme has been originated by means of which a handsome and appropriate souvenir will be given. As it is now, in case the trophy was put up entirely by the Washington people, and the Baltimoreans won the series, it would be rather disheartening to see the prize trophy leave the city. The problem has been solved in this way. No trophy has as yet been selected, nor is it likely that one will be until after the races. The value of the trophy has been fixed at $50, and five or ten local bicycle organizations and dealers are expected to contribute $5 or $10 each and purchase the trophy in the event the Washington team comes off victorious. If, however, the Baltimore team wins, the same plan will be followed in that city, and the trophy cup presented by the cycling people of the monumental city. It is also understood that a Baltimore newspaper will give a trophy.

The first race of the series is to be held on the 18th Instant at Baltimore. The second race will be held in this city, and the third race held in Baltimore. If such a thing happened that a team of one city wins all three races there will be no further need of continuing the series. The fourth race will come off in this city, and if a fifth race is necessary a toss-up will be made to see which city will get the deciding race. The members of the winning team will receive gold medals as a souvenir of the occasion.

These medals will be given out for each race, making it possible for every member of the team to wear three gold medals in honor of the event.

Just who will compose the Washington team is an unknown factor. Sims and Schade are mentioned as two sure men, with Harry Z. Greer as third man. Noth-ing official, however, has been done, and the team will be selected in the regular way. At the annual field day of Company C of the Washington Light Infantry, which will be held next Saturday, the first of the series of trial heats for place upon the team will be run off as part of the program for that day. The winner of this will be entitled to a place on the team. On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of the following week two more trial heats will be run, and the winners of each of them selected as the re-maining two members of the team. The substitutes will be picked from the men making the next best showing. The last two trial heats will be held in the even-ing near 7 o'clock, and will be as nearly private in character as is possible to make sion, this race, if run off, will prove a good thing. So far the question of a fifth race has not been thought of, and in case Washington wins on the toss-up a date will have to be arranged some time in the future. For the Baltimore races the only known thing is that the first race will come off on July 18. The date of the second race has not been named. A movement is on foot to royally entertain the Baltimore delegation that will come over to witness the race and root for their team.

The track at the International Park has been gotten in excellent condition for the ruces this afternoon, and good time can be expected. One of the improvements at the track will be the erection of a quarter-mile track will be the erection of a quarter-mile running track within the third of a mile cycle track. The work on the running track will be begun Monday, and outside of the laying off and slight banking of the same there will be but very little labor in constructing the track. The need of a running track was made apparent by a number of future events which are scheduled to come off. It will also save the bicycle. to come off. It will also save the bicycle track, as the running over that surface has a more or less damaging effect. Another thing which is being done is the stringing of electric wires over the grand stand and through the grand stand promenade for in-candescent lights. They will be used when the park is opened of evenings. Another big improvement at the place is the erec-tion of blcycle racks with sheds for the accommodation of those who attend per-formances at the park on wheels. The entire southeastern section of the park has been fitted up in this manner.

Speaking of the stories of wheels, there is a promise of considerable improvements being made at Cabin John bridge for the accommodation of cyclists. Heretofore the riders have left their wheels against the picket fence, or left them standing at other places around the grounds, where there was more or less danger of damage. The Messrs. Bobbinger, who manage the hostelry, have plans under consideration for the accommodation of cyclists. Racks will be provided. and wheels checked after the manner of the carriages at the same place. This will force the management to an extra expense of hiring additional help for the checking of the wheels, but the cycle trade at the place is so great as to justify the expense. No fee will be charged for the checking of the wheels. It is understood that a similar move will be made at Chevy Chase, and it will not be long before all of the other outof-town and nearby resorts will follow the same example.

Mr. Barnes, who has charge of the unattached division of the proposed bicycle parade to be held the 14th instant for the parade to be need the 14th instant for the cortheasterr, section of the city, requests all who will join in the parade to register at $23 H street northeast. Full particulars will be published in these columns as arrangements are perfected.

The United Wheelmen held a very inter-The United Wheelmen held a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening at 510 lith street northwest, at which all arrangements for a permanent organization were completed and the club fully launched into existence. Dr. W. W. Alleger was elected as assistant secretary. A committee on finance was elected composed of Messrs. R. B. Burr, J. A. Nelson and B. H. Warner. A committee on membership was Warner. A committee on membership was also elected consisting of Thomas Pollock, C. J. Montgomery and E. W. Raab. This committee organized immediately after the meeting, with Mr. Pollock as chairman and Mr. Raab as secretary.

Mr. Raab as secretary.

The most important committee election of the evening was that of the rights and privileges, and the following were elected to serve for the ensuing year: C. M. Lewis, W. S. McKean, Frank J. Wissner, R. E. Revill and A. M. P. Mashmeyer. A good deal of business was referred to this committee, which is vested with broad authority. A meeting was held last evening at 1420 F street, where the committee organized and started in for work. One of the events of the evening was the reading the events of the evening was the reading of a telegram from Mr. B. H. Warner, who is in New York, expressing regret at his inability to be present at the meeting. Now that everything has been completed in the line of organization the officers will get down to work and hustle for the rights of the wheelmen. A hearing before the Commissioners is scheduled for next week, at which the cyclists' side of the situation will be strongly and forcibly presented. All that will be asked will be the enforcement of certain existing laws, and if possible a modification of the new police regulation which goes into effect next Thursday limiting the speed of blcycles to six miles an hour at street crossings and eight miles an hour between squares. The application blanks for the associa-tion made their appearance this morning, and there will be a general hustling to se-

The annual meet of the Maryland division of the League of American Wheelmen began yesterday, and will conclude this afternoon at the Park cycle track at Cambridge, Md. Among those from this city who attended the races were Capt. William Jose of the Washington Road Club and F. W. Hutchins, one of the two pro. men in the city. Hutchins rode in the one-mile and two-mile landicaps and the third-of-amile dash races for professionals at the meet yesterday. After the close of yes-terday's races the two Washingtonians came back home to attend the races this afternoon at the International Park. The entrance fee to the races was $2, which admitted the entrant to one or all of the races on the program, a radical departure from the methods in this city.

The Christian Endeavor convention, which opens next week, is expected to bring an urusually large number of cycle visitors to town, and preparations will be made for their reception. All of the churches have some idea of the number of cycles that some idea of the number of cyclists that will be in the city, and are making arrangements accordingly. In all of the down town churches there will be special racks constructed to hold the wheels of the visiting Endeavorers while the owners are attending divine worship. The Congrega-tional Church, corner loth and G streets, will have racks in the basement of the church, capable of accommodating fifty wheels, but it is thought there will be more wheels than that to be cared for.

The Park Cycle and Athletic Association The Park Cycle and Athletic Association of Baltimore have arranged for a meet next Saturday at the Park Cycle track. There are only four events on the program. The first is a one-mile novice, with a prize gold medal, valued at $10. The second race is a one-mile professional, with $15, $10 and $5 cash as first, second and third prizes, respectively. The third event is a one-mile interclub amateur race for Maryland club teams of three men each. The trophy will be the Crawford cup and $20 medals to the wirning team, and $10 silver medals to the second team. The final race will be a two-mile handicap race, with first prize of a $15 mile handicap race, with first prize of a $15 gold medal; second prize, a pair of $10 tires, and the third prize of a $5 bicycle lamp.

The repeated refusals of Chairman Gideon of the league racing board to permit Fred Sims to race outside of the city are regarded here as a sample of the cona responsible position. Other local men have been given permission to do outsile racing, but the line is very unjustly drawn with Sims in a seemingly very arbitrary manner. There is no reason in the work why Sims should be so treated, having been refused three times within as many weeks to participate in outside races

The Arlington Wheelmen will shortly open the watermelon season by giving a melon feast at the International Athletic melon feast at the International Athletic Park to their many friends. Admission will be by card only, and it is expected to carry out as many ladies as men. After the feast there will be dancing on the grand stand promenade. The watermelon run will be given the latter part of this month, the date being as yet undecided. This is only the beginning of a series of runs of the same order that will be held at the park. Several other clubs have the matter under consideration, and they will most likely follow in line. The attendance at these events will be limited, so as to keep away any of the objectionable element, which, as a rule, will frequent a element, which, as a rule, will frequent a watermelen feast or any other wheelmen event that is free. * * *

The first of the intercity races to be held in this city will come off on Thursday, July 30. That will be the occasion of the ar nual field day of the Knights of Pythias, and it is expected will prove one of the drawing cards for the occasion. In addition to this race, the knights will have three or four other bicycle contests, making an almost purely bicycle meet. There will also be an obstacle race and several foot races on the program. The second Washington race or the fourth race of the last will be taken to start a similar to the working of the working steps to form an organization of the United Wheelmen. This is a good step and should be encouraged, as it will tend to keep the wheelmen bound together by common ties for the promotion of cycling. The new organization will most likely be known as the Cyclists' Federation of the District. The chief mover in the matter of the organization is Samuel E. Lacy, a son of Detective Lacy, who is an enthusiastic wheelman. A meeting will be called for some evening next week, at which the initial steps toward making a federation will be taken. With the perfection of a local federation of colored cyclists of both sexes, steps will be taken to start a similar. At the regular meeting of the Washington Road Club, held during the week, it was decided to give a smoker Monday evening at the Hotel Arno in honor of the opening of their handsome new quarters. The affair will be in charge of a committee consisting of Massra Ronsaville. Jode and consisting of Messrs. Ronsaville, Jode and Tubman, who will arrange for the program Tubman, who will arrange for the program and all other necessary matters. While the full list for the evening's entertainment has not been completed, an excellent program is promised. One of the features of the smoker will be the distribution of the prizes which will be won this afternoon at prizes which will be won this afternoon at the Queer Wheelmen race meet. The smoker will be conducted on a high-class order, and admission will be by card only. The membership of the club is rapidly increasing since the move to the new club house, and at the last meeting fourteen new members were admitted, with the applications double that number on file. The new members are Messrs. L. B. Graves. W. M. Wootten, Eugene C. de Riva, J. H. Pilling, M. A. Prince, J. H. Edes, A. W. M. Wootten, Eugene C. de Riva, J. H. Filling, M. A. Prince, J. H. Edes, A. The election of officers to fill several vacancies was laid over until the next regular meeting. The name of Mr. L. B. Graves, the well-known and popular wheelman, has been placed in nomination for the presidency, and he will most likely be elected.

No regular run of the club will be called for tomorrow by Capt. Jose on account of the excitement of the Fourth, though it is likely that a good many members of the club will ride up to Dickey's.

One of the features of the Arlington race meet, which will come off on August 22, will be an exhibition mile on a tandem, in which Mr. William Gettinger, the treasurer of the Arlingtons, and Mr. William H. The members of the Capital Bicycle Club who attended the congress of the American Whist League at Manhattan Beach have all returned to the city, except the team captain, Harry N. Low. The club points with pride to its record in the tournament for the American league trophy. After having been defeated for trophy. After having been defeated for the Hamilton trophy, a team was made up, consisting of Low, Wooten, Fogg and Borden, to play for the challenge trophy of the league. In this tournament the short suit team of the New York Whist Cleb carried off the cup. The C. Bi. C., another short suit team, was second, being but one-half point behind the New Yorks. In this match the best teams of the Hamiltons of Philadelphia, St. Paul and Baltimore clubs did not engage, for the reason tons of Philadelphia, St. Paul and Balti-more clubs did not engage, for the reason that they were contesting for the Hamilton champlonship trophy. The New Yorks will not be allowed to hold the league trophy long without having to play for it, and it will be interesting to watch the results of the long suit and short suit playing in matches of forty-night hands.

It is quite singular, in connection with the New Yorks, that reports emanate frequently from long suit sources that the team has abandoned short suits, only to be denied by friends of the club. Notwith-standing the reputation of the club as short suiters and its claims to success in that line, the statement has been made that the C. Bi. C.'s was the only team that really played short suits at the congress. This is with the intention of belittling the system. It is even stated that the Baltimore club is a long-suit team. It has heretofore been known as mixers, playing whichever system would not them the greater number of tricks. So it happens that the question of the superiority of one system over another was not settled at the congress. The short-suiters have as much faith in the system as ever, and simply say, Wait
